greek art you can wear

2023 COLLECTION

THE INSPIRA PROJECT IS INTELLIGENT.

We open a door to understanding beauty that makes sense.

NATURAL.

We respect the power of Nature and the importance of living by it.

SUSTAINABLE.

We see the deep connection between us humans and every other living being.

We all share the same planet.

PRECIOUS.

We believe that wearing high quality things can improve the quality of life of the people who have worked to make them.

INSPIRED.

We get creatively inspired by ancient art and symbols.

We aim to make art you can wear.

RADIANT.

We design prints that radiate clear, dense and timeless messages.

AEGEAN.

We love the Aegean sea and its civilization, which provided wonderful examples of human sensitivity and craftsmanship.

Heracles, son of Zeus, with superhuman strength and great intellect became a celebrated hero and a symbol of bravery. As an infant, he strangled the snakes sent by vengeful Hera with bare hands. Later, he killed his children in a fit of rage. As atonement to this sin he had to complete the twelve Labors. Controlling his extreme character he fought victoriously against mythical beasts, kings and even the guardian of the underworld.

Pattern inspired by the statue of Heracles, 68-98 AD, the Metropolitan Museum, New York.

SOCRATES

*Socrates was an Athenian man of great insight, integrity, and argumentative skill, who exerted a profound influence on philosophy. He professed not to know anything but only to seek answers and in public conversations he showed that nobody knows anything as well. He was sentenced to death on a charge of impiety by hemlock poisoning by a jury of his fellow citizens. (399 BC)
Pattern inspired by contemporary statue, Academy of Athens.*
